The situation

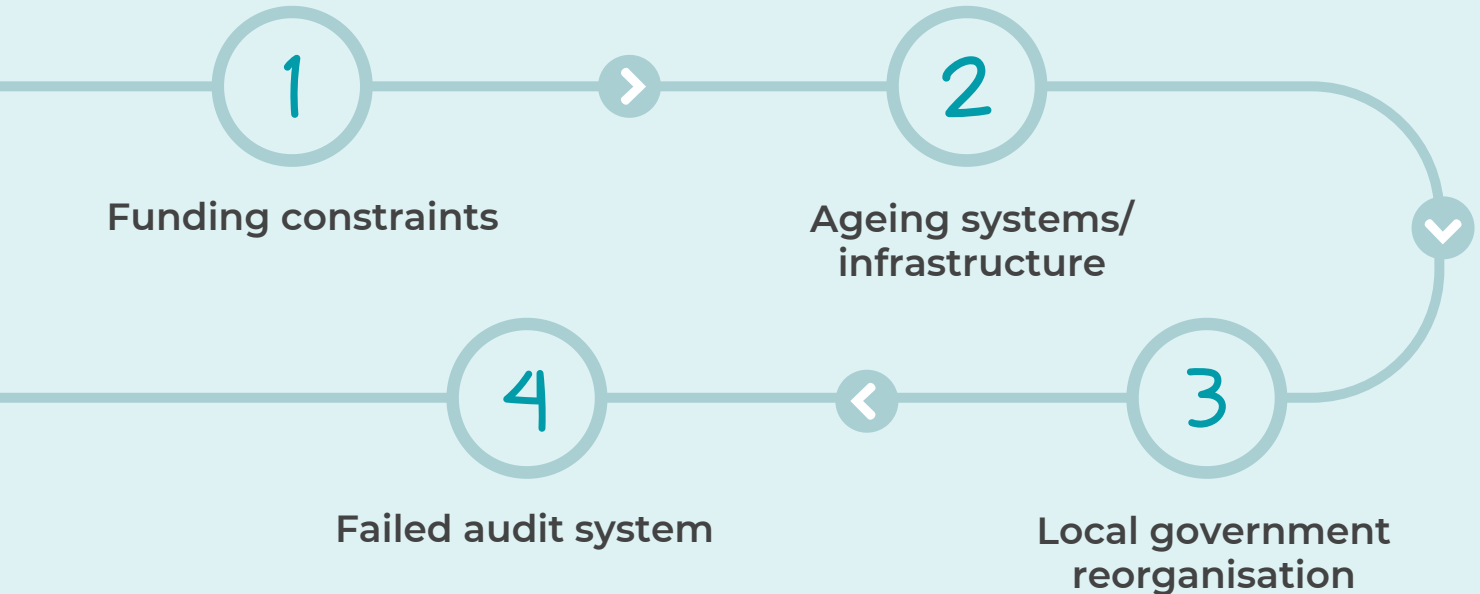

MOORE Insight

CIVICA

Local government in the UK is facing a period of significant pressure and it can feel like the sector is under strain.

To address these challenges, English councils in two-tier areas are now being required to transition to a unitary authority structure.

While this shift brings both challenges and opportunities, it's crucial that councils first gain a clear understanding of their financial position. Is it healthy? Are they ready for what's ahead?

A key step in this process is assessing the balance sheet, which provides a snapshot of assets, liabilities, reserves, and equity.

This financial statement is vital for ensuring transparency, driving efficiency, and supporting long-term sustainability of the newly formed authority.

The solution

That's where Resilience 360 comes in...

We're Moore Insight and Civica - leaders in public sector transformation.

Together, we've developed Resilience 360, a powerful solution designed to help local authorities prepare for local government reorganisation, assess the health of their balance sheet, and evaluate their systems landscape.

Resilience 360 supports councils of all sizes, regardless of their current systems or structure. And it's not just for those undergoing reorganisation - it's equally valuable for any authority looking to strengthen its financial and operational resilience.

What to expect

-  Short, sharp review
-  Headline review of the balance sheet controls and reconciliations around it, including key line of business systems.
-  Systems blueprint that maps the key systems that integrate with the finance system.
-  Review of the financial control framework that will look at key finance lifecycle timetables.
